THE WANDERING HUSBAND

The husband who engages in an act of adultery is no rarity. Almost all American married men perform this action sooner or later.

Although the increased sexual boldness expressed by female adherents to the sexual revolution is rapidly altering the behavioral differences between the genders, it is still true (statistically) that the husband, in a weakening marriage, begins extramarital adventures before the wife. There are exceptions. Many a man has married a woman who brought other men to her bed before the wedding leftovers had gone stale. Many a husband has remained steadfast to a wife who thought nothing of taking on a multitude of extramarital sex partners. But on the average, it can be expected that the husband will stray some time before the wife does.

THE PRACTICE OF NATURAL LOVE

For the normal woman, arousal follows a definite pattern, with slight variations. If she feels love for her partner, she is already aroused by the first kiss, her erogenous zones are already stimulated and she is ready for a period of foreplay that will lead to a normal union.

She will first enjoy the tongue-to-tongue kisses, since this provides great stimulus and serves to excite her responses. The slow movement of her partner's tongue inside her mouth, as well as the entrance and withdrawal of her tongue in his creates erotic stimulation for both.
